

Space is running out in this free program! Take advantage of the open enrollment before the registration period ends. Many utilities have already signed up. Visit www.coloradowaterloss.org today to claim your spot while there is still space. It's fast and easy.

The Colorado Water Loss Initiative (CWLI) is a comprehensive program of AWWA M36 water loss training and technical assistance for urban water systems across Colorado provided by the Colorado Water Conservation Board.

This special program is being offered at NO COST to your utility. However, space is limited, and enrollment will close when the available slots have been claimed.

Want to learn more? Details on the program, including a helpful 10-minute overview presentation, are now available at www.coloradowaterloss.org.
